Further information:

The RBWH seeks motivated and experienced Intensive Care Medicine trainees to participate in a novel rotation that will develop your skills in acute medicine and clinical leadership. You will lead diverse multidisciplinary teams to manage acute presentations and clinical deterioration at the emergency department and critical care interfaces. After-hours you will provide clinical leadership across the RBWH, with a particular focus on preventing clinical deterioration for patients of concern. In recognition of the importance of your role, a comprehensive education program in protected non-clinical time will improve your skills in:

- Clinical leadership, teamwork, communication and supervisory skills;
- Design and delivery of clinical education, including simulation training;
- Research and quality improvement.

There will be opportunities to complete formal qualifications in the above domains over the course of your rotation. A detailed job description is available on request.
