

Doctors required for new Wollongong Private Hospital, NSW for ICU/CCU

In January 2016, Ramsay Health Care will open a brand new 151 bed private hospital in the heart of Wollongong's medical precinct, adjacent to the Wollongong Public Hospital.

Wollongong Private Hospital will include all major services including an intensive care unit, nine operating theatres, a cardiac catheter laboratory and a day oncology unit. It will feature state of the art equipment and offer the full range of medical, surgical and maternity services.

We are now seeking applications from medical officers to work in the ICU/CCU. Successful applicants, in collaboration with other team members, will provide effective management of patients under the guidance of the hospital's Visiting Medical Officers. Duties include general ward call, patient admissions, medication management, acute patient reviews, and initiate/follow up on test results in liaison with VMOs.

Essential Criteria:

- Current general registration with the Medical Board;
- A minimum of three years relevant clinical experience;
- A minimum ten week Paediatric rotation with skills in the management of neonatal resuscitation; and
- Competence in providing advanced life support measures; and
- A comprehensive knowledge of intensive care medicine and advanced clinical practise skills.

Enquiries and application to be forwarded to:

Jess Austin, Recruitment Manager, Wollongong Private Hospital on (02) 4255 5039 or email: austinj@ramsayhealth.com.au