Bundaberg

Do you want to start your day with a peaceful stroll along the beach, enjoying the fresh ocean air?

Life in Bundaberg

The Wide Bay is arguably one of the most beautiful regions in Queensland, Australia and is known for its relaxed, family-friendly lifestyle. The Bundaberg and Coral Coast region is located approximately four hours' drive or a quick 45 minute flight north of Brisbane and is the gateway to the Southern Great Barrier Reef. With an enviable year-round climate, this sub-tropical region offers a unique bush and beach lifestyle. It is the perfect base to explore the wider region, including Fraser, Lady Musgrave and Lady Elliott Islands, Mon Repos Turtle Rookery, and the many hiking trails found in the rural hinterland. Bundaberg serves a population of about 100,000 people and is a vital regional business hub for Queensland, boasting excellent shopping, sporting, education, cultural and tourism facilities. Bundaberg also offers a lower cost of living and affordable housing market and a short traffic-free commute to work.

About Us

The Bundaberg ICU is a Level 4 ICU as per the Clinical Services Capability Framework which equates to a Level 2 as per the College of Intensive Care Medicine guidelines. It sits on the 1st floor of the Bundaberg Hospital with 8 beds. The ICU model of care is based on the world wide best practice model of closed ICU with the patient allocation nursing model, as recommended by the College of Intensive Care Medicine (CICM) and the Australian College of Critical Care Nursing (ACCCN) guidelines. The Bundaberg ICU supports ICU, HDU and CCU patients within the department. There is the capacity to invasively ventilate and provide multi-system support to three critical patients concurrently with three high dependency patients. We have an established relationship with tertiary facilities to support teleconference management/review of selected patients.

What we can offer you:

- Professional Development leave and allowance
- Clinical Managers allowance
