

Organ Donation New Zealand are seeking expressions of interest from Intensivists in New Zealand to join our small and vibrant team as a part time medical specialist in organ donation.

This is an exciting time as we continue work in advancing organ donation in New Zealand. The work includes but is not limited to: national education, guideline, protocol and policy development and implementation, research and audit, leadership, governance and advocacy. You will also join the medical on-call team to provide 24 hours a day (currently 1:5) collaborating with the donor coordinators and donor hospitals to ensure each donation opportunity is met with the best possible outcome for all involved.

If you work in an ICU in New Zealand, are vocationally registered with the medical Council of New Zealand with Fellowship of the College of Intensive Care Medicine (FCICM), and are interested in finding out more, please don't hesitate to contact:

Dr Jo Ritchie FANZCA FCICM
National Clinical Lead ODNZ
Jo.ritchie@nzblood.co.nz